The local community from Gilbert to Valley View was without electrical services for over an hour Saturday night and several hours on Sunday morning due to an auto accident on 209 on Saturday night which felled an electric light pole near the Tom Carney Jr. residence.

Barrett Community Club Hears Talk By Wyckoff

BARRETT — The first meeting of the Winter season of the Barrett Community Club was held recently at the Barrett YMCA.

Mrs. Marian Scheim, president, was in charge.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Loretta Quarmley. The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Helen Miller, and Mrs. Evelyn Hugenin read several items of correspondence.

Mrs. Scheim welcomed all the guests and introduced Mrs. Nora Meyung who read a short report on the aims and purposes of the Barrett Community Club.

Mrs. Meyung introduced Holt Wyckoff who was the guest speaker. Wyckoff spoke on his recent trip to the Soviet Union. He commented on the genuineness of the Soviet people and said that in general they were very friendly.

As far as an all over view was concerned, most of the cities were very drab. However some of the public buildings had excellent workmanship. Clothing was dull and coarse and was made with just one idea in mind and that was to keep the people warm, he noted.

Wyckoff also showed slides of the trip. These color slides showed scenes of the city of Moscow and several other cities that the party visited. Questions about the trip were answered by Wyckoff at the end of the program.

Committee Reports

Reports were made by the various committee chairmen. It was reported that due to the success of the Fashion Show and Carnival, the club is starting the year in a good financial condition.

It was announced that the next meeting will be the anniversary meeting with dinner to be held at the Hillside Lodge on Nov. 2. All reservations must be made by October 29 to Mrs. Sigrid Larsen.

Mrs. Stephanie Manhart then presented the slate of officers for next year. They are; president, Miss Barbara Carlton; 1st vice-president, Mrs. JoAnn Gibson; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Nora Meyung; treasurer, Mrs. Evelyn Hugenin, recording secretary, Mrs. Marian Scheim; and corresponding secretary, Mrs. Marian Styk.

There will be a board meeting at the home of Mrs. Marge Thomas on Thursday, Oct. 20.

Jaycees Committee Heads Named

COMMITTEE chairmen were appointed by President Ben Grudis at a meeting of the Pocono Mountains Junior Chamber of Commerce Monday night in the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

It was announced the membership drive will continue through October under the chairmanship of Ralph Burnley, Jr., and Fred Reinhold.

The chapter was presented a "Roll the Barrel" plaque by the State Jaycee organization for its program of visitations to other chapters.

Reports On Parade

Ralph Brunori, chairman, reported on the Halloween parade which will be held next Monday. William D. Johnson, executive vice president of the state organization and a member of the local group, spoke on the "Jaycee Story."

Joseph Raynack, general superintendent of J. H. Beers, Inc., spoke on the present and future highway construction in the Pocono Mountains area.

Road Being Built Into Brady's Lake

THE Pennsylvania Fish Commission is currently building a $78,140 road from Route 940, one-quarter mile west of Pocono Pines, to Brady's Lake, one of the area's best-known fishing sites.

The road is being built by commission employees using commission funds. The money for its construction comes from the federal Dingel-Johnson Bill which provides for an excise tax on fishing equipment.

The road, when completed, will be three and one-half miles long with a four-inch stone base and a two and one-quarter inch bituminous topping.

The project, believed the only one of its kind scheduled in the state this year, was arranged by Rep. Van D. Yetter, of Monroe County, and Gerald Adams, Hawley, area fish commissioner.

Charges VA Rent Too High

WASHINGTON (AP) — The General Accounting Office said yesterday the government pays too high a rental for space in the Wyoming Valley Veterans building at Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

In the future, GAO said in a report to Congress, it will not approve any rental in excess of $154,500 a year. The present rental, under a three-year lease, is $175,000 a year.

"It is our view," the report said, "that the building was valued too high and that the annual rent is $20,500 in excess of the maximum rental rate allowable under the 1932 economy act limitation."

GAO said unnecessary rent and related service costs of about $65,000 a year have been incurred under the present lease because space not needed by the government was included in the rental agreement.

Water Gap Fire Never Determined

By Jim Shafer

THE cause of the fire in the Water Gap House, Delaware Water Gap, was never determined, but many theories of the cause were heard on the Main Street of Delaware Water Gap, Stroudsburg, East Stroudsburg and other boroughs in and out of Monroe County.

Theories heard on the streets were: Plumbers had been working and left one of their torches lit and it started a curtain to burn; a short circuit in the electrical system of the hotel was the cause; and The Gap House was a model hotel and the only way it could have burned was for it to be set afire deliberately. There were many others too.

The hotel was closed to guests on the Monday before the fire and during the week the house had been cleaned and furniture and equipment packed and covered for the winter. All of the handsome and costly furniture had been covered with linen.

Most of the furniture was made of solid oak or mahogany and the windows had been nailed shut so that entrance could not be gained during the months the hotel was closed.

J. Purdy Cope, the owner and operator, was preparing everything so that he could leave for the Alhambra Hotel in Atlantic City, which he also owned and operated during the winter months.

It was not certain that the hotel would be rebuilt but Cope said that work would start in a few days to clear away the debris for what might be a bigger, better and more modern hotel.

The loss, the night of the fire, was estimated at $150,000 but later the figure had gone over the $200,000 mark.

The building was a five story frame structure and could accommodate 350 to 400 guests. It was kept in the very best of repair by Cope.

Built in 1871
The house was built in 1871 by Luke W. Brodhead and was opened in the spring of 1872 and was operated by him until his death in 1902.

In the spring of 1904 the property was purchased by I. D. Iverson from the executors and then sold the same year to J. Purdy Cope at a cost of $85,000.

Two years later he removed the entire top floor roof and added two stories, for a total of five floors, at an added cost of $60,000.

Cope continued with his improvements until at the time of the fire the hotel was equipped with 100 tiled baths, running water in each room, elevators, electric lights, steam heat, log fires, sun parlors on each floor and all rooms commanding a magnificent view of the surrounding mountains, lake or river.

'Y' Board Goes Over Finances

FINANCIAL matters and a report of activities occupied the attention of the board of directors of the Monroe County YMCA at its monthly meeting last night.

Since the current year's expenses are running ahead of budget and revenues are below estimates, the board found it necessary to borrow $2,500 to complete the year's operations. The money will be repaid at the rate of $250 per month starting Jan. 1, 1961.

John R. Wilson, general secretary, reported on the start of the Fall and Winter activity program at the main building and also at the branches in Mount Pocono and Mountain home.

He said the new type of physical program undertaken by Jack Chapman, physical director, was meeting a good response and added that the various clubs and classes were swinging into action with moderate to large attendances.

Wilson called attention to the forthcoming Community Chest campaign and described it as vital to the successful operation of all member agencies, including the YMCA.

President Thomas Kistler presided at the meeting.

VFW Okays Increase In Dues

MEMBERS of Thomas P. Lambert Post 2540, Veterans of Foreign Wars, last night finally approved an increase in dues to $6 yearly, effective in 1962. The vote on the measure was 21 for and two against.

At a regular post meeting, Robert Hachtman, post commander, reported that George Straka has been named assistant chief of staff for the Pennsylvania Department of the organization.

Plans were discussed for the Veteran's Day parade on Friday, Nov. 11, which will start in Stroudsburg and end in East Stroudsburg. A midget football game in Memorial Stadium, East Stroudsburg, will follow.

Paul Weary, president of the home association, said the annual meeting will be held Nov. 7 at 8 p.m. in the post home. A film, "Fishing in Alaska," was shown through courtesy of the Parker Oil Sales, Stroudsburg.

Buys Russian Oil

MOSCOW (AP)—Italy agreed to buy 12 million tons of oil from the Soviet Union under a $200-million trade pact announced Tuesday night. The Soviet news agency Tass described the agreement as "the greatest ever" between the Soviet Union and Italy.

The Soviet Union will deliver 12 million tons of oil within four years. Italian companies will supply 240,000 tons of steel tubes, oil pipeline equipment and 50,000 tons of synthetic rubber, Tass said.

Residents of this area will have an opportunity to inspect the Hamilton central office in operation and will be able to observe the intricate dial switching equipment at work as calls are speeded to local and out-of-town telephones, he added.

"This will be the first opportunity for our customers in Stroudsburg to have a behind-the-scenes look at the Hamilton dial office which was placed in service in June of 1959," the manager pointed out.

"Of particular interest will be the equipment which makes it possible for local telephone users to dial long distance calls direct to telephones in all parts of the country."

To Meet Employees
During the open house program, guests will meet Bell Company employees who are responsible for the operation and maintenance of the communications system serving this community.

Bell men and women will conduct tours of the office and explain their various duties and the functions of the operating equipment, Van Horn said.

New Owners Of Grand List Film

THE NEW owners — Jack Luckey and Charles Locke — of the Grand Theater, East Stroudsburg, will present today at the theater "High Time," a motion picture bubbling over with comedy, songs and zany hijinx.

Starring Bing Crosby, with Fabian, Tuesday Weld and Nicole Maurey, the show depicts a college campus with many merry madcapping episodes.

The technicolor production starts rolling from the minute Crosby, a 31-year-old self-made millionaire, decides he wants a college education and enters as a freshman at Pinehurst College. Upon entrance, he finds himself in the dormitory with his new roommates Fabian, Richard Beymer and Patrick Adiarte.

Thus the story starts and it doesn't end 'till four years later when "Der Bingle" gets his sheepskin.

Nigerians Get Freedom Before Resident Of Area

JACK GELINAS

(Former E. Stbg. Resident)
LAGOS, NIGERIA—The time was one minute before midnight. The day: Friday, September 30. The place: Lagos Racecourse. Dramatis personae: Sir James Robertson, the Governor-General of Nigeria, representing Queen Elizabeth II of Great Britain, and Alhaji Sir Abubakar Tafawa Balewa, representing the nearly 40 million peoples of Nigeria. There were more than 200,000 people in the arena and several millions more scattered throughout the 353,250 square miles (larger than Pennsylvania, New York State, Maryland and Texas put together) of Nigeria, sitting by their radio loudspeakers listening to the proceedings.

The ceremony was watched by Princess Alexandra of Kent, tenth in line of succession to the Throne of Great Britain and cousin to the Queen. Governor Nelson Rockefeller was there representing Dwight David Eisenhower, President of the United States of America. Forty-three other nations of the world, including USSR, India, China and Japan, were also officially represented by big-name delegates.

The ceremony was climaxed as the clock struck 12 midnight. Sir James and Alhaji Sir Abubakar, Prime Minister of the Federation of Nigeria walked to the center of the arena and took their position on the dais and watched the lowering of the British Union Jack and the raising of the Nigerian National flag. And so the independence of Nigeria was proclaimed.

Hailed Down
And so, the Union Jack symbolizing the rule of Great Britain was hauled down as the flood-lights lowered to total darkness. And so, there was silence and the green and white national flag of a new sovereign nation was hoisted-up to unfurl in a glow of bright lights and fireworks. And so, the people sang God Save The Queen—out of respect (we could hear many Nigerians all around us saying, "we'll sing it — this is the last time.") (And then the same people sang the new Nigerian National Anthem (and they knew the words too). And so ended one hundred years of British rule in Nigeria. No rioting, no bloodshed.

We felt that in those sixty seconds we had watched the sun setting; while a new moon destined to radiate over all of Africa and even to other parts of the world, emerged on the horizon.

Indeed, this was a great moment for Nigerians. It was also a great moment for the British people. At midnight, in a dramatic moment, they released Nigeria, shook hands with Nigeria, and accepted Nigeria immediately as friends on an equal basis. They withdrew — and rightfully so, with pride — knowing that they had built Nigeria into a nation that could stand on her own two feet. They withdrew.

Must Be Recognized
One thing must be recognized, and that is that Nigeria has fundamentally the same problems that produced the Congo crisis — when considering the diversity of her leaders and her peoples. But what the Federation of Nigeria has which the Congo does not have, is an educated government and a stable, selfless, scholarly Prime Minister. I'll talk more of the general politics of Nigeria in a future article.

In the event that a few faithful readers might be wondering if it rained during the celebrations, I am happy to report that the money spent by the Oba of Lagos in keeping the rains away was money well spent — the sun has been shining ever since.

drawn satisfied — and justifiably so — that they had done their part in preparing Nigerians for the road ahead, with grants and loans; educational institutions; and with men — administrators, engineers, doctors, and missionaries. But probably most important, they had worked with the Nigerians in designing a stable federal system of government.

Today, five days later, the Prime Minister of this newly independent country, leads a delegation to the United Nations Organization headquarters at New York. I personally consider Alhaji Sir Abubakar Tafawa Balewa a great man. The honorific "Alhaji" indicates merely that he made the trek to Mecca; "Tafawa Balewa" is the name of the small village of his origin in the Northern Region; the knighthood is new. When stripped of this nomenclature of titles and localities, Abubakar stands forth as the rural school teacher and scholar he might have remained had he been born a few years earlier or later.

First Pleasure
I first had the pleasure of meeting him at the Government Rest House at Manfe, northernmost point by road in the Southern Cameroons. We were both staying the night. His chalet was next to mine, and I went over in the evening to introduce myself (this was in December, 1958) and found him sitting on the small porch with his prayer beads. Before I could turn back, with hopes of not disturbing him, he saw me and beckoned that I visit. We had an interesting chat — mostly talked of the Victoria, British Southern Cameroons, Centennial Celebrations we were both to visit the next day. The last time I had occasion to meet and talk with him was the Saturday before Independence at the official opening of the National Press Club of Nigeria here in Lagos. I offered my independent congratulations along with the others, and I can't remember ever having heard a man say, "we'll sincerely do our very best," quite so sincerely.

Marquis joined the Forest Service in 1940 and from that time until 1951 has served in various positions in the Division of Forest Economics in Washington, D. C., and Portland, Ore. In 1951, he was appointed to his present position as Director of the Northeastern Forest Experiment Station.

Articles' Author
In addition to his many affiliations with forestry organizations, Marquis authored many articles on forestry. Most of the articles were published in technical journals. Born in Two Harbors, Minn., he received his BA from University of Washington and his MA and Ph. D from Wisconsin University.

13 Families Left Homeless

MARANOY CITY, Pa. (AP) — Thirteen families were left homeless yesterday when a pre-dawn fire destroyed seven business establishments—which also housed apartments on upper floors—and two homes. The fire also damaged four other double structures in the downtown section.

Firemen said a furnace in the Rainbow Cafe apparently exploded. The flames raced through the walls of the cafe, a corner building on Center street, and spread to the others along a 135-foot frontage.

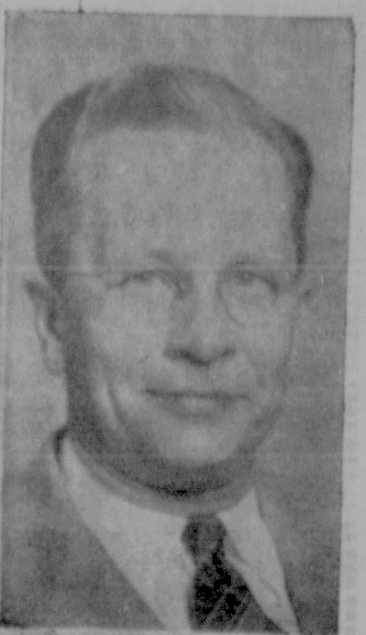

The cafe was part of the estate of Herman Coffee, who was killed in a fire about two years ago. Two of the families affected also had lost their possessions in earlier fires.

BEAUTIFULLY BUILT TO TAKE CARE OF ITSELF

You are looking at the trend-setting car of our times, the '61 Ford ... a car whose clean and classic profile is unmatched by any other in the world. Just one glance at the Big Circle taillights and sculptured rear deck, one look at the crisp, fresh front-end design and you'll know the '61 Ford is the classic style of the Nineteen Sixties.

Here is a Ford that is not only new in looks and ride and comfort, but new in its entire concept. The '61 Ford is actually built to take care of itself! It lubricates its chassis ... cleans its own oil ... adjusts its own brakes ... protects its own body.

Indeed, here is a car that will save you valuable time and money by doing away with many shops for service.

HAYNES MOTORS, INC.
N. 9th at Scott St., Stroudsburg — HA 1-2560

HERE'S HOW THE '61 FORD TAKES CARE OF ITSELF ... THE FIRST 1961 CAR DEALER-WARRANTED FOR 12,000 MILES OR ONE FULL YEAR.

Lubricates Itself. You'll normally go 30,000 miles without a chassis lubrication. Cleans Its Own Oil. You'll go 4,000 miles between oil changes with Ford's Full-Flow oil filter.

Guards Its Own Muffler. Ford mufflers are double-wrapped and aluminumized — normally will last three times as long as ordinary mufflers.

Adjusts Its Own Brakes. New Truck Size brakes adjust themselves automatically.

Protects Its Own Body. All vital underbody parts are specially processed to resist rust and corrosion, even to galvanizing body panels beneath the doors. Takes Care of Its Own Finish. New Diamond Lustre Finish never needs wax.

Warranty. The '61 Fords are built to meet three principal goals: first quality, greatest durability, most reliable operation. Expressing their complete confidence that this has been accomplished, Ford Dealers led the industry in extending their warranty on '61 Fords to 12,000 miles or one full year, whichever comes first. See this warranty at your Ford Dealer's now.

Sound Policies

Indifferent success marked the Treasury's recent effort to stretch out the national debt by advance, or "leapfrog," refinancing. The endeavor involved a small fraction of the national debt, 10.8 billion dollars in 2½ per cent bonds which were sold on a bad day in our history, five months after Pearl Harbor.

The Treasury hoped to defer the 1967-69 due dates of these securities by offering in exchange 3½ per cent bonds maturing 13 to 29 years later, in 1980-98.

Of the 10.8 billion dollars worth of the old bonds eligible for exchange, less than a third ($3,395,220,000) were presented for the swap. The Treasury said it was "pleased," but it was probably just being polite.

Detractors of the administration's management of the national debt, mostly liberal Democrats in Congress, were a bit less genteel in their criticism of the Treasury's operation. They called it a "giveaway." But was it really a gift to the owners of the old bonds?

In its October monthly letter, the First National City Bank of New York figured that the value of the $1,000 bond purchased in May, 1942, is worth only $549.50 in terms of today's living costs.

As for the one-point percentage increase in the interest rate offered on the new bonds, that's no bargain either. Income taxes are higher today than in 1942 so that the extra 1 per cent presents very little advantage.

If there are any doubts about the deteriorating effects upon the dollar's value caused by short-term deficit financing of high federal spending, the Treasury's experience with the 2½s should erase them.

It's no wonder that voters depending upon fixed incomes are wary of any presidential campaign promises that do not offer sound fiscal policies.

The Pennsylvania Story

Vote Imponderables

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg — It is the "imponderables" that have both Democrats and Republicans in the Keystone State in a sweat as the November 8 election deadline approaches.

In this conglomerate category are such vote factors as the rural vote, the women's vote, the rank and file labor vote, the independent vote and the smaller urban area vote.

These are the imponderables. Combined they make up the vast array of non-organization-controlled votes of both Democrats and Republicans.

The big city vote of the metropolitan centers of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh—the last remaining holdouts of effective political machines—are no longer considered by old pros the fully dominant controlling factor of comparatively few years ago.

They remain a big factor but strategists reluctantly admit, no longer the prime factor.

For example, Philadelphia is expected to swing Democratic in this election as it has in recent elections—but snuggling fringe counties such as Bucks, Chester, Montgomery and Delaware on the other hand are expected to help neutralize this with a heavy Republican vote.

In actuality, these uncounted and somewhat unpredictable votes in outlying areas and the hinterland sectors of the state are generally viewed as the controlling factor in the outcome of next month's balloting.

Voters in these non-metropolitan areas may not realize it but in the current campaign they have been the sought-after goal of pot-of-gold hunting candidates as rarely before.

It has been a quiet part and parcel of what campaign strategists of both parties like to refer to as the "new campaign strategy."

In a sense it is "new"—new from the standpoint that historically the upstate counties simply had been accepted as Republican counties by both Republicans and Democrats.

In more recent years however Pennsylvania donkey riders have made determined efforts to "unlock" these counties from the GOP grasp—with the result that belatedly, Republicans redoubled their efforts to hold their grasp on the upstate areas.

Democrats have been somewhat successful in making inroads—but again, just how successful is another of those imponderables driving chieftains of both parties nuts.

Added to all this—in search-out these imponderables—strategists of both parties are by no means overlooking another "headache," or the potential influence to be wielded by members of the powder puff brigade.

None question the perhaps critical role women are expected to play in the outcome of the November 8 runoff.

Old pros have been watching with growing apprehension and dispair the increasingly dominant niche the women are carving for themselves in each successive campaign.

This year both Democratic and Republican women are actively in the field, with perhaps greater effort in this direction in the current campaign centering among Democratic women working basically in behalf of the Kennedy candidacy.

Unquestionably the conglomerate mixture of imponderables will have much to do with the outcome of the election in Pennsylvania this year.

The results will be well worth watching!

The entering class comprises 75 girls from 42 cities in 4 states and the Virgin Islands.

Social Security Guide

Q. I am an electrical contractor and have been self-employed for over 25 years. Since 1950, I have been covered by social security and have paid social security tax on my net earnings for each year since. I have not been doing too well in my business for the last two years. My net earnings have been less than $1,200 per year. Since I am now 65, could I start my old-age benefits? If so, what papers will I need and when may I apply? I am not married.

A. Since you are not earning over $1,200 per year, and are over age 65, you should apply immediately. When you come in, bring a copy of last year's Federal Income Tax returns, both the Form 1040 (Individual Income Tax Return) and the Schedule C (Profit or Loss from Business or Profession). It will also be necessary to see your cancelled check showing that you have paid the necessary social security tax. In addition, you will have to submit some proof of your age. This may be in the form of a birth certificate, baptismal certificate, a family Bible or even an old insurance policy.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Influenced By Matthews

In June 1957, the "National Review" had this to say:

"The 'New York Times' seems to be taking over sponsorship of the revolt against Batista of Cuba that is being led by the ex-law student, Fidel Castro, and his miscellaneous dissidents, locally and internationally backed by the Communists."

"Two months ago 'Times' correspondent Herbert L. Matthews, after spending a couple of days with Fidel in the Sierra Maestra camp, wrote an account that read like a Public Relations. Matthews is now back in Santiago, not far from the Sierra Maestra, wiring dispatches that would qualify him as chief of Fidel's psychological warfare section."

"Already, is a quote attributed to a graduate student."

Matthews is displaying the Larger Vision: Fidel has lifted Cuba out of the inertia that was engulfing us as it has the people of the Dominican Republic, Nicaragua and Venezuela."

We are now in the last quarter of 1960 and we know that Castro is not the angelic figure that Herbert Matthews painted him to be. We know that Cuba is a Kremlin satellite. We know it precisely now because Castro himself said so in an impromptu press interview at Idlewild airport. I listened to it on television. Castro did not use the word, satellite. But the implications were clear.

However, it was this same Herbert Matthews who was called in by the State Department to brief a new ambassador to Cuba.

In his testimony before the Senate Subcommittee on Internal Security, Ambassador Earl E. T. Smith said:

"... Mr. Matthews informed me that he had very knowledgeable views of Cuba and Latin American nations, and had seen the same things take place in Spain. He believed that it would be in the best interest of Cuba and the best interest of the world in general when Batista was removed from office."

The following colloquy is significant:

"Mr. Sourwine. Mr. Smith, when you talked with Matthews to get the briefing before you went to Cuba, was he introduced to you as having any authority from the State Department or as being connected with the State Department in any way?"

"Mr. Smith. . . . You asked me a short while ago who arranged the meeting with Mr. Matthews."

"Mr. Sourwine. And you said Mr. Wieland."

"Mr. Smith. I said William Wieland, but William Wieland also had to have the approval of Roy Rubottom, who was then Assistant Secretary of State for Latin American Affairs. . . ."

"Mr. Sourwine. I asked if, when you were sent to Mr. Matthews for this briefing, he was introduced to you as having any official connection with the State Department or any authority from the Department?"

"Mr. Smith. Oh, no. I knew who he was, and they obviously knew I knew who he was, but I believe that they thought it would be a good idea for me to get the viewpoint of Herbert Matthews, and also I think that Herbert Matthews is the leading Latin American editorial writer for The New York Times."

"Obviously the State Department would like to have the support of The New York Times. . . . I believe there was a close connection . . . between the Latin American desk and Herbert Matthews. . . . I would say that Mr. Wieland and all those who had anything to do with Cuba had a close connection with Herbert Matthews."

"I will go further than that. I will say that when I was Ambassador, that I was thoroughly aware of this, and sometimes made the remark in my own Embassy that Mr. Matthews was more familiar with the State Department thinking regarding Cuba than I was."

Herbert Matthews has been a reporter and correspondent since 1922. He has served in many foreign posts. He was "The New York Times" correspondent in the Spanish Civil War from 1936 to 1939, and during this period showed editorial sympathy for the side which has come to be an adjunct of international Communism.

The Spanish Civil War was a struggle among Communists, anarchists and the Falange for the control of Spain. Out of it eventually came the regime of Franco. Like many foreign correspondents, Matthews became personally absorbed in this situation and his articles were more editorial than objective.

It was this experience in Spain which won him recognition as an expert in Spanish and Latin-American affairs. He influenced American public opinion in favor of Fidel Castro who is now our enemy.

Oct. 24 is the 15th anniversary of the United Nations, and to celebrate this date the U.N. will issue four and eight cent stamps, together with a souvenir sheet.

Opinions Of Other Editors

English: World Language

A young Moroccan bicycled 10 miles three times a week to attend English classes at the USIS (United States Information Service) office in Casablanca.

A Honduran teacher rode muleback for two days to a USIS seminary for teachers of English in Tegucigalpa. In Mogadiscio, Somalia, 150 employees of the new Somali government are taking USIS English lessons over the national radio.

These are examples of the popularity of the USIS English teaching program now being carried on in 55 foreign lands.

They evidence the foresight of John Adams when he wrote in 1780: "English is destined to be in the next and succeeding centuries more generally the language of the world than Latin was in the last or French is in the present age."

Writing recently in the Christian Science Monitor, William H. Stringer gave further indications of how English is becoming the world's "common tongue." He interviewed 10 top leaders of Asia and Africa — all but two gave their views in English.

A recent Israeli farm conference for African-Asian nations was conducted in English. Signs and notices in Moscow's airport, and the "fasten seat belts" in new Soviet planes, are in Russian and English. In practically all Western European nations, and in more and more Asian and African nations, English is the second language in the schools.

It is interesting to speculate why this has all come about. Stringer thinks it is partly a legacy of British colonizing activity.

British and American traders, missionaries, writers and tourists have certainly contributed. The fact that a language catches on and becomes known as the No. 1 tongue of trade, diplomacy and international affairs gains it increasing adherents.

Reports From Congress

Top Helpers

By Congressional Quarterly

Washington — Despite their magic political touch, Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower are no longer the favored platform companions of candidates for the U. S. Senate and House of Representatives.

Instead, candidates give top marks to the two Presidential nominees—John F. Kennedy and Richard M. Nixon—as men who could "help a lot" by visiting their district, according to a poll conducted by Congressional Quarterly.

President Eisenhower still ranks high as a "guest" campaigner among GOP candidates, but Nixon ranks a little higher.

Among the Democrats, Sen. Kennedy is well in front, with Vice Presidential nominee Lyndon B. Johnson running second. Mr. Truman is third, a sharp contrast to 1956 when a similar CQ poll showed the former President to be the favored home district guest even though Adlai E. Stevenson was the Presidential nominee.

Republican Response Of 184 responses from Republican candidates, Nixon received 165 votes

In the "Help a lot" category, President Eisenhower 161 votes and vice Presidential candidate Henry Cabot Lodge 151 votes.

Ranking behind them were New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller with 95 votes; Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.), 85 votes; GOP National Chairman Thurston B. Morton, 80 votes; Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, 45 votes; Secretary of Interior Fred A. Seaton, 37 votes; and Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson, 21 votes.

Nixon and Lodge both topped the President in the East where Rockefeller was also rated as a top campaigner. Nixon was ranked top campaigner in the Midwest. The President and Nixon were tied for top campaigner in the South and the President still ranked as most effective guest in the West.

Democratic Responses

With 167 Democrats responding, Kennedy received 132 votes as a "help a lot" campaigner. President still ranked as most Johnson had 100 and Truman fell to third with 79 votes.

Following the leaders were Stevenson with 73 votes; Mrs.

Eleanor Roosevelt, 61 votes; Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), 54 votes; Rep. Chester B. Bowles (D-Conn.), 42 votes; and Democratic National Chairman Henry M. Jackson, 38 votes.

Kennedy led the Democratic field in all areas but the South where Johnson was ranked the most helpful campaigner.

Not So Popular Campaigners

Leading for the dubious honor of least popular among the Republicans listed was Benson who received 90 votes in the "no help" category. Benson had run fourth most popular in a field of six in the 1956 poll. One Republican said Benson would be less than no help and two made the same comment for Goldwater.

Democrats were just as emphatic about the negative value of some of their party leaders. One excoriated the entire group of Democratic leaders and noted, "Not popular in our state of South Carolina," Mrs. Roosevelt, with 53 votes, and Bowles, with 51, led Democrats in the "no help" or worse category. One Southern Democrat said Mrs. Roosevelt's assistance would "ruin me."

How Helpful?

The poll indicated that Republican candidates tend to put more stock in outside help than do the Democrats.

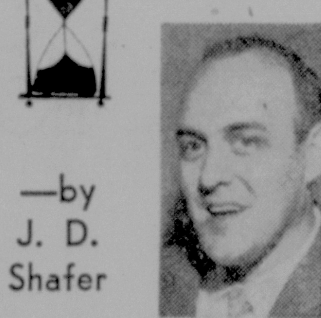

About 54 percent of the responses rating GOP leaders were in the "help a lot" category whereas about 47 percent of the Democratic ratings fell in that category. By the same token, about 21 percent of the Democratic ratings were in the "no help" category compared to only about 17 percent of the GOP ratings.

This difference in viewpoint was partially borne out by a separate question asking candidates to gauge the effect of appearances by outside leaders on the outcome of past elections.

While candidates of both parties tended to rate the general effectiveness lower than their responses on individual leaders would indicate, Republicans still rated outsiders more effective than did Democrats.

About 31 percent of GOP candidates said outside campaigners were a "major influence" on past elections; 64 percent checked the "minor influence" rating and only five percent said no influence at all. Only 25 percent of the Democrats listed outside campaigners as a "major influence," 60 percent rated them as a "minor influence" and 15 percent checked the "no influence" category.

He also granted 157 degrees to students from 15 states, and five foreign countries including Thailand, England, India, South Africa and China. In addition to the baccalaureate degrees, more than 80 advanced degrees were awarded.

Explorer On Program At ESSC

THE SECOND in a series of convocation programs sponsored by the Entertainment Council at East Stroudsburg State College will be presented tomorrow at 10 a.m. in the school auditorium. The Council invites all those interested to see a travelogue on Russia presented by Neil Douglass.

The formal title of Douglass' film is "Russia—The New Face." It is an unrestricted series of events that describe the life of the people, transportation, type of economy, standards of living, political beliefs of the majority of the people in the Soviet Union, cultural life, entertainment, professional and occupational activities, and many other phases of the nationals that live behind the Iron Curtain.

The film commentary also raises many questions that Americans have been asking recently: Why did Khrushchev find it compelling to attend the anniversary session of the United Nations? What must Americans do to meet Russian threats?

Douglass is an explorer-adventurer and expert photographer whose expeditions have taken him from exploding volcanoes to the top of the Alps and from thundering glaciers into the Iron Curtain. He is a former All-American football player at Lafayette College, a noted writer and lecturer, a contributor to the Encyclopedia Americana, and is listed in Who's Who in Science.

Refused "K" Three Times
To obtain his pictures of Russia, (he refused those offered by Khrushchev three times) Douglass fought to get every phase of life inside the Soviet Union even at the risk of arrest by the police. His courage and tenacity for this undertaking have won for him the plaudits of the many thousands of people who have viewed his film. Many have proclaimed the film the "program of the hour."

Other adventurers and authorities have gone out of their way to praise Douglass in his fearless efforts to authentically portray this vast country of potential wealth and power. Douglass had shown his films on Russia to hundreds of college audiences as well as civic clubs and all groups pay high tribute to him for his narrated experiences and superb photography.

Parade of Homes

Simple Materials Joined Together

THIS IS a soft, pleasant design, comprised of things and ideas understood and acceptable. Its specifications call for simple materials to be joined in known ways.

Indeed, here is warmth and refinement in a home that will be economical to build and economical to maintain.

Entrance is guarded by two grade level planters. Roof overhang affords protection, but an aperture over the window planter keeps this portion in the sunlight. From the entry, you go immediately to the living room-dining area.

Here, light streaming through the vast window area makes dark corners impossible. Extending from front-to-back, the heart of this free-flowing area is the brick fireplace, accentuated by a projecting mantel.

French doors offer access to the covered rear porch. Closed in on three sides, the porch can be considered merely an extension of the living room. It would make an ideal summer retreat and is equipped with a grill and Bar-B-Q.

Opposite the entry, but partitioned off is the elongated kitchen and laundry area. With cabinets and counters forming an "L" freedom of movement is a built-in feature. Work centers have loads of adjacent counter and cabinet area. The sink is favored with the key position below a two-sectioned sink window.

Laundry equipment occupies the extreme end of this area — removed enough to be out of the way, but still conveniently at hand for the homemaker. A side entrance leads to the adjacent carport and back yard.

The sleeping wing includes three bedrooms and a well-designed bath. With especially generous dimensions, the master bedroom easily dominates this area. A corner position and liberal glass area assures a constant cross ventilation breeze. Note the huge walk-in closet. The two remaining bedrooms occupy front positions and both are well provided with glass area and closet space.

This plan conforms to general FHA, VA and Building Code requirements. Included with this plan you receive Specification Guide, Material List, and Conversion Detail Sheet. The plan contains 1,126 square feet, and 627 square feet in the carport. Your builder or material supplier can give you the average cost per square or cubic foot in your area.

Complete Building Plan, including Detail Sheet, Material List, and Specification Guide for Des. No. H-220 may be purchased for $9.75 for first set; 2 for $18.25; 3 for $26.25; or 4 for $33.75. You may also purchase The Daily Record Plan Book showing 71 designs for 75 cents postpaid. Address all questions and orders to HomeGraf Home Plan Dept., The Daily Record, Warren, Michigan.

Built-Ins Aid Tidiness In A Child

WESTERN Pine shelves and built-ins can do much to make and keep a child's room attractive and neat. The imaginative design of varied storage units will tend to catch a youngster's interest, and will help to teach tidiness.

This does not mean that with cabinets, cupboards, wardrobe-dressers, chests, or open shelves the parents' problems automatically will be solved, but psychologists agree that children look to adults to put order and discipline into their lives. The Western Pine Association points out that this is the kind of bedroom storage that will appeal to children and point the way toward neatness.

Parents can win half the battle if they design units with the child in mind and include a few "gimmicks." Examples might be a lid-topped bin for galoshes and football shoes; a chest for games and toys; open shelves for books, dolls or "treasures."

$33.75. You may also purchase The Daily Record Plan Book showing 71 designs for 75 cents postpaid. Address all questions and orders to HomeGraf Home Plan Dept., The Daily Record, Warren, Michigan.

Added Storage Space

ASK any homemaker what improvement she wants most in her home and the answer will invariably be "more storage space," followed closely by "more privacy."

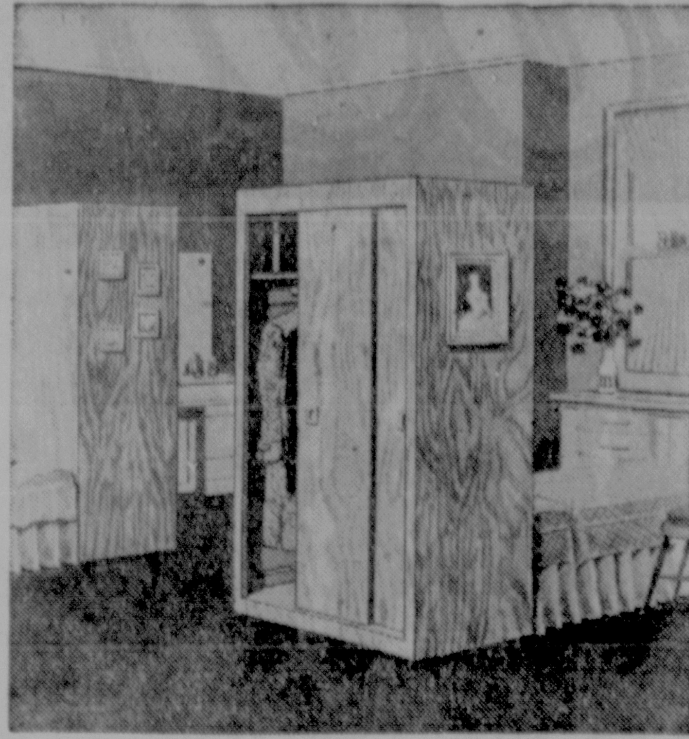

The closet illustrated above was designed to answer both problems, while the easy to follow step-by-step directions offered in the pattern below explains how to build a four-foot-wide by six-foot-high cabinet, construction is so simplified it can easily be built to any other size.

For those living in homes where the front door opens directly into the living room, one or more of these units makes an ideal room divider. Additional privacy can be obtained by dividing the living room from the dining area.

In this installation one cabinet faces the living room and provides storage for guest clothing; the other, facing the dining area provides storage for china and linen. In the family room this closet provides a home for games, sporting equipment, etc.

Only stock materials are required. The list furnished on the pattern not only tells what to buy but where each piece is used. The pattern also tells how to build a second cabinet in order to extend storage space to ceiling. The top cabinet can be used to store hat boxes, traveling bags and other seldom used articles.

Send 50c in coin, check or money order for Storage Wall, Pattern No. 263 to The Daily Record, P.O. Box 215, Pleasantville, N.Y. Send additional 35c for 64 page catalog illustrating over 300 other build it yourself projects.

Here's the Answer

By Andrew C. Lang
AP Newsfeatures

Question: I have heard of many different ways to achieve an antique finish on wood, but none of them parallels a method my late grandfather used to employ. All I can remember about it is that he mixed a powder with water and then applied the mixture to the wood with a sponge. There was no rubbing, shading or anything like that. Can you tell me anything about this?

Answer: It is quite probable that your grandfather used potassium permanganate powder, which you can buy in most drug stores. One part of powder to about ten parts of water is the proper mixture. When applied, the mixture causes a chemical change in the wood that gives it an aged effect. I suggest you try it first on a piece of scrap wood to be sure the result is what you are trying to achieve.

Question: I have just finished plastering a wall. How long must the plaster be allowed to dry out before painting?

Answer: Three or four weeks should be sufficient time. Professionals use a moisture meter in case of doubt. Try striking a match against the wall. If it does not light, the chances are drying has not been completed. You can, if you wish, put on a coat of latex paint, which allows evaporation to continue until the wall is completely dry. Later, if

Better Seeds From Research

HOME gardeners, florists, suburbanites and others who buy flower, vegetable or agricultural seeds are going to get stronger protection in New York State, which this year pioneered in new rules and regulations setting seed standards.

Other states are expected to follow suit before long.

New York State also has been the first to establish rigid controls over the so-called "flower mats" of pre-planted seed, state agriculture department officials say. Many of these have been found unsatisfactory in the past.

Herb seeds, including dill and sage, also have been added to the list of vegetable seeds, giving buyers further protection.

Seed packets now must bear the notation "below standard" if the germination qualities do not meet requirements.

A Cure For Sick Ceilings

IF YOU have some problem ceilings—badly cracked, criss-crossed by exposed pipes (as in many basements), or too high for a room's dimensions—your solution may well be to install a plank and beam ceiling or one made simply of paneling. Even if your ceilings can pass muster, a wood ceiling can add distinction to virtually any room.

The Western Pine Association points out that the home-owner has help close at hand if he discusses his particular problem with a local lumber supplier, for there is a wide variety of lumber to choose from, and different installations suit different needs.

For example, a simple paneled ceiling might be best in a small room that lacks height. A plank and beam installation, on the other hand, will often lend solidity and character to a room in which the ceiling is high.

Still a third possibility is the use of decking. This is thicker than paneling and with its added strength, it can act as the underside of the floor above or support a roof if major remodeling is being undertaken.

Whatever the home-owner's choice of ceiling style, he will find that lumber from the western pine region is economical, readily available, and easy to work.

Radio Drill Slated For Fire Units

DURING THE Fire Prevention Week area fire companies equipped with radios will conduct a drill on fire radio frequency networks.

One station in the eleven companies will act as the control station to handle all traffic on the network. Until early this month when the Monroe County Citizens Band Radio Operators organized, this network would have been the only communications in use at a time of emergency.

In the 11 companies in the "fire net" there are approximately 75 pieces of mobile radio sets. With an organization such as this only a few minutes would pass before they would be on the air. "This would have been a great aid to the county during the 1955 Flood," said Donald Gage, president of the Acme Hose Company, East Stroudsburg.

In The Network
Fire companies equipped with the network are Monroe County Civil Defense, Barrett Township, East Stroudsburg; Marshalls Creek, Mt. Pocono, Tannersville, Pocono Pines, Newfoundland, Stroud Township, Stroudsburg, Saylorsburg and Tobyhanna Signal Depot.

The depot is not officially in the net but expects to be within the month. They are waiting for Federal Communications Commission authorization.

All individuals operating the radios are licensed by the FCC.

Chamber Presented Plaque

ZIGMONT Viechnicki, East Stroudsburg beverage distributor, presented the Pocono Mountain Junior Chamber of Commerce a plaque declaring the area group winners of the 1959-60 "Roll-The-Barrel Project."

The project is a co-sponsorship of the Pennsylvania Junior Chamber of Commerce and P. Ballantine and Son of Newark, N. J.

Ballantine presented the idea for the program to the Pennsylvania Jaycees three years ago and since that time the local Jaycees have won the award twice and Honesdale once.

Better Relations
The idea behind the project is to promote better inter-chapter relations. The barrel is started by one of the area chapters and is presented to the host chapter president after a small program is put on by the visiting Jaycees.

At this point each chapter takes its turn at outlining its year of planned activity. They also discuss the project that failed and why it did.

The success of this project has encouraged P. Ballantine and Son to add little extra things to the project as it grows.

Girl 5, Stabbed 21 Times By Boy

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A 5-year-old girl, stabbed 21 times by a neighborhood boy, is expected to live, although her condition is critical.

"With the proper care and round-the-clock nursing, and barring any serious infections, Sally Ann will get better," Dr. Sidney Barnwell, chief resident surgeon at Mercy-Douglass Hospital, said yesterday.

Leo Reilly Jr., 14, has been charged with burglary, assault with intent to rape, kill and ravish, and aggravated assault and battery by knife.

He signed a statement, police said, in which he admitted luring Sally Ann Hayward from a playground near her home in a housing project Saturday night to a basement.

According to his statement, he tried to molest the child, became angry when she kicked and screamed, and stabbed her with a penknife.

"I got a shock like sticking your finger in an electric socket," he told a detective.

Several hours after the attack, police found the child in the dark cellar, huddled in a storage bin, bound, gagged, bleeding and nearly naked.

County To Be Represented

MONROE COUNTY will be well represented at the state conventions of school directors and school board secretaries in Philadelphia this week.

Harry J. Drennan, of Buck Hill Falls, is president of the Pennsylvania State School Directors Assn., which will hold its 64th annual convention Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Meeting at the same time will be the 45th annual convention of the Assn. of School Board Secretaries.

The first general session is scheduled for Thursday night and will highlight a musical program by the East Stroudsburg Area High School Band directed by Clement Weidmeyer and Robert Zeller. The half-hour program will start at 7:30 p.m.

Friday at 1:15 p.m., at the third general session, another Monroe County school group, the Barrett Township Elementary School Choir, will present a 30-minute musical program under the direction of Russell E. Speicher.

Drennan will preside at the sessions of the school director's organization and also introduce Gov. David L. Lawrence, main speaker at the annual joint meeting.

More Figures On Registration

HARRISBURG (AP) — Official reports from five additional counties yesterday swelled the total Pennsylvania voter registration from 37 counties for the Nov. 8 election to 1,198,599.

The State Elections Bureau recorded a total of 49,636 Democrats from the five counties, 89,143 Republicans and 2,524 voters of miscellaneous registration. Thirty counties still must file their figures.

Yesterday's filing included these counties: Chester, Clinton, Elk, Fulton, and Juniata.

Just Between Us — —

Something seemed odd about yesterday but I couldn't figure out what until I realized that there were men on the streets, and it was only 2 o'clock. It's only when the t'ams are traveling that this happens during the World Series.

It's odd to think that whether the world's work will be postponed for one or two more days depends largely on whether or not Pittsburgh wins today. Odd but sort of reassuring.

First, because it seems to indicate that a lot of things we do are unnecessary, and second, because if they have to be done we can do them a lot more quickly if we have an incentive. Most of us seem able to waste more time than we invest, especially when we seem to be working the hardest.

Have you ever noticed how fast a housewife can slick up the living room when she sees company starting up the front walk? Or how fast the kids can do their homework if they've got a television program they want to watch?

That's why the busiest people are always the ones to take on that one more community chore. It's when you have nothing to look forward to that you string out a chore as long as it will stretch, and "dogged does it" doesn't necessarily mean that it's done any more efficiently.

All of which I had to keep reminding myself of yesterday when I was neither fast nor efficient. Going for the mail, emptying garbage, sweeping the back porch, even getting from one side of the street to another took me an unreasonable length of time. I kept thinking that nothing I had to do was quite so important as enjoying the happy coincidence of Indian Summer and the height of color in Fall foliage. You get a free gift like that and it's only courteous to appreciate it.

Kresgeville — Miss Corinne V. Artz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Artz of Saylorburg, became the bride of Albert H. Eckhart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Eckhart of Kunkletown RD 2 on September 17 at 2 p.m. in Jerusalem Lutheran Church, Trachsville.

Republicans In Mountains To Meet Tues.

Mount Pocono—Campaign literature and buttons for use in the closing weeks of the Presidential campaign will be available at the meeting of the Pocono Mountain Council of Republican Women on Tuesday night at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Richard Leles, president, announced that the meeting will be held at the home of the vice president, Mrs. Halstead Ellison, Debigh Hill Day Camp.

Rev. M. L. Wahrman performed the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of rosepoint lace over taffeta with a Sabrina neckline, long pointed sleeves and a scalloped hemline. A crown of orange blossoms and sea pearls held her elbow-length veil. She carried a bouquet of white roses on a white ribbon.

Mrs. Donald Stout as matron of honor wore a dress of powder blue nylon over taffeta and carried a colonial bouquet of white and blue painted daisies.

Donald Stout served as best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Towamensing Fire Hall in Trachsville, and the newlyweds are now at home in Saylorburg.

The bride is a graduate of Chestnut Hill High School and her husband of Polk Twp. High School. He is employed by the A&P Co. in Brodheadsville.

St. Matthew's Parents Discuss Mental Health

The first meeting of St. Matthew's Parents Assn. opened Monday night with a ham supper catered by Pete Margretto, assisted by mothers of first grade pupils: Mrs. B. Grudis, Mrs. J. Gargone, Mrs. E. Romansky, Mrs. P. Stevens, Mrs. R. Tweedie, Mrs. A. Archer, Mrs. J. Dane and Mrs. R. Kunklentz.

Miss Marie Brown spoke on the mental health program. A film, "Family Circus" presenting some of the problems young children face in adjusting to the family, was shown and brought forth many questions and opinions in the following session conducted by Miss Brown. Mrs. Martin Kearney introduced the program.

Reports were also given by Mrs. Joseph Dane, lunch room; Mrs. Carl Meissner, membership; and Mrs. Charles Baker, Girl Scouts. In the absence of Rev. Harold Durkin, John Schnaitman gave the opening and closing prayer.

Calendars, Fruit Cake For Hospital

Deadline for listing birthdays and organization dates on the Anna Logan Birthday Calendar has been set for October 26. At the meeting of the hospital society on Monday night at the YMCA, members were asked to turn birthday names over to Mrs. Horace Butler, 606 Thomas St., Stroudsburg, and dates for organizations to Mrs. Charles Swisher.

The group also voted to continue their annual project of making fruit cake for the holidays. This year they will concentrate on dark cake and will cut up ingredients at the November meeting which will be held in the basement of the Stroudsburg Methodist Church. Orders for the cake may be given to any member or telephoned to Mrs. Ralph Broosky, HA 1-8421.

Mrs. John Wellington presided at the meeting during which members sewed on gowns for children at the hospital. They also voted to purchase six bottle holders for babies at the hospital.

Mrs. Horace Butler reported on the State Medical Society convention in Atlantic City.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Harry Smith and her committee.

Fire Chief Phillips Speaks At Morey PTA Meeting

"Fire safety depends largely on good common sense," Fire Chief Robert Phillips of the Stroudsburg Fire Department told Morey parents and teachers at the PTA meeting on Monday night. He outlined precautions which could be taken, including:

Awareness of what constitutes a fire hazard;

Teaching fundamental precautions to children early;

Learning how to properly report a fire.

Chief Phillips pointed out that in reporting a fire, the Control Center number is HA 1-2323, and the information should include not only the location but also the type of fire since fire-fighting begins with planning at the firehall.

The fire department can be on the scene of any fire within the borough in 1 1/2 minutes, he said, adding that a constant check is maintained to keep the force posted on the fastest route for firemen to reach fires in areas where the normal traffic pattern is disrupted because of Thruway or other construction.

As part of the educational program, children in the primary grades in Stroudsburg are welcomed in visits to the fire department and fire safety is promoted by teachers in the classroom through the use of material provided by the fire department.

Miss Gladys Woltjen, teaching principal of Morey, reported that the school with its 11 classrooms is routinely evacuated in less than one minute in the five practice drills each year. Clarence Transue reported a similar record for the Ramsey School.

Phillips announced during open house at the Stroudsburg Municipal Building this week on Friday from 7 to 8 p.m., each child who is accompanied by an adult may have a free ride on a fire truck. He also pointed out that local fire organizations are all volunteer and need the public's support.

He announced the annual fireman's dance sponsored by the Stroudsburg unit on Saturday, October 15.

Floyd Kellogg presided at the PTA business meeting when

Miss Linda Dennis

Miss Dennis Engaged To E. Williams

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dennis announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda, to Ernest Williams, son of Mrs. Mary Williams and the late Ernest Williams of Saylorburg.

Miss Dennis is a private secretary at Ronsons, and Mr. Williams is a mason, working for Jacob Hartman.

Area Growth Cited By Deanery

The tremendous growth in the National Council of Catholic Women from the Delaware River to Scranton was stressed by both speakers at the fall meeting of the Monroe Pike Deanery held at Our Lady of Victory Church, Tannersville.

Mrs. Gerard A. Corcoran, Diocesan Chairman of Organization and Development commended the local deanery for great strides and said that today's complicated living conditions demand more and more from women who must be prepared to cope with them outside the home.

Rev. E. Robert Galligan, assistant pastor of St. Mary of the Mount, Mount Pocono, also touched upon the growth in this area and the responsibilities it placed on the parishes. He urged women to contribute their time and service to their church, community and government.

Rev. William Cusick, moderator of the Deanery, said that one half percent of the entire world's population controls the rest of the world with Communism as proof and symbol of that fact.

Mrs. Michael Chopko presided at the meeting attended by representatives from St. Mary of the Mount, Mt. Pocono; St. Ann's, Canadensis; "Our Lady of Peace," Brodheadsville; St. Matthew's, Stroudsburg; St. Ann's, Shohola; St. Patrick's, Milford; St. Joseph's Matamoras; and Our Lady of Victory, Tannersville.

Reports were given by Deanery chairman; organization and development, Mrs. Ernestine Colstien; cooperation with Catholic Charities, Mrs. Marie Munich; cooperation with Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, Mrs. Theodore Shultz; public relations, Mrs. Carl Texter; spiritual development, Mrs. William Hannas.

Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament was attended in the church. Refreshments were served with Mrs. Robert Stadden and Mrs. John S. Pearson presiding at the tea table.

The Spring meeting of the executive board will be held at the Penn-Stroud Hotel on March 21; and the Spring meeting of the Deanery on May 7 in St. Matthew's, East Stroudsburg.

Installation

The Wyckoff Shopper

The "friendly store"

A.B. Wyckoff

STROUDSBURG, PA.

According to his biographers, Louis Untermeyer is 75 years of age. This I cannot believe. He doesn't look it, and he has far too much vitality and zest for living. His biography also says he has been married four times. This I am willing to believe. He is a charmer, and one whom it was a pleasure to meet and interview after his witty and subtly penetrating lecture before the Dutch Treat Club last Thursday.

Ordinarily, I should feel extremely self-conscious about talking with a gentleman of Mr. Untermeyer's distinction . . . particularly since a major part of that distinction lies in the field of editing and writing good, even brilliant, grammar. I am not a scholar, and carry no rule books under my arm and very few rules, I fear, in my head. But Mr. Untermeyer is nothing if not gracious. Whatever my grammatical blunders may have been, he was so kind, so humble, and so thoroughly delightful, that the interview I taped for our Wyckoff radio program was one of the finest I've ever managed—in my opinion, at least.

At one point, I asked why young people of today so often say, "Poetry? I hate it!" and what we as parents might do about it.

"That I cannot answer," Mr. Untermeyer said quickly. "In the first place it is too long and difficult a question to answer in a short time . . . in the second place, it is my 250 dollar lecture." He did relent enough, however, to admit that, while today's students are reading and hearing a great deal of poetry in the classroom, it is being presented to them as something to analyze and ponder—not as something to enjoy and by which to be entertained.

I was happy to hear Mr. Untermeyer speak pleasantly of Phyllis McGinley and Ogden Nash, for some of the literary snobs I know call them humorists (among other less complimentary things) but NOT poets. Admiring their work as I do, I've always resented this attitude. I was thrilled to know that he regards Robert Frost as today's greatest American poet (although he admits sometimes being his own favorite poet!) . . . and to learn that he is compiling the letters written him by Mr. Frost into a volume which will undoubtedly be welcomed by all who appreciate beautiful writing.

One of Mr. Untermeyer's most brilliant recent achievements is The Britannica Library of Great American Writing published by the Encyclopedia Britannica with Lippincott. This two-volume project contains not just the literature of America, but the political speeches, and a study of American art and culture in all its facets. It even contains recipes, Mr. Untermeyer tells me.

I must read it, if only to discover whether we Americans have ever produced a concoction as deadly as some of those he encountered on British menus during his memorable visit to London. Another reason for reading it might be that, since it bears the Untermeyer name, it is thorough . . . precise . . . humorous . . . and like himself, too fine to be missed!

Monroe, Pike Gain In '59 In Hunt Licenses Sales

HUNTER license sales for 1959 showed a decrease in Northampton and Wayne Counties, while Monroe and Pike Counties showed slight increases.

The largest total issued by Pennsylvania Game Commission for the immediate counties went to Northampton. The county had 16,288 registered hunters for 1959 in comparison to '58 total of 16,943.

Monroe County, the commission reported, had 7,848 registered hunters in 1958 and last year the total rose to 8,168. Pike County showed the other increase in application for hunters' licenses. The total last year was 3,664, and in '58 there were 3,385.

Twenty-seven hunting licenses were not recorded in the '59 season as compared to the 1958 year in Wayne County. The total was 5,300 in '59 and 5,327 in '58.

Similar decreases were noted in Wayne and Northampton Counties for non-resident licenses. Wayne showed a loss of one hunting license from 1,131 in 1958 to 1,130 last year. Northampton recorded fourteen less licenses from 1958 when 838 applied for permits.

Monroe showed an increase in non-resident hunting certificates 742 this year to 725 last year. Pike listed the highest number of increase by issuing 2,685 permits in '59 to 2,599 for 1958.

A Cryptogram Quotation 10-12

NAZ UERRGHZ TERNZQ VZMN
AGR AEMX NY NAZ HERN RYJV
NAEN Y'ZQ AGT UVEHMXZ
ZTZQRYM.

Yesterday's Cryptogram: TO LIVE A LIFE HALF DEAD, A LIVING DEATH—MILTON.

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 12, 1960

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Not wholly suspicious but you personally can attain advantages by applying your skill and knowledge in a wholesome manner and steady gain. Forgive those who are kindly and understanding.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—Fine vibrations your activities are encouraged and these are innate with you. Be ambitious but don't strain and overwork self with unreasoning. Tact!

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—Mild influences linger since yesterday's good Mercury aspect. But day on whole has restrictions and warns to be circumspect, patient. Study, writing, all brain work sponsored.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer)—You can attain today if you plan your schedule carefully and work harmoniously with all useful, honorable factors. Don't go too far out into the limbo, keep within your limits and possibilities.

July 23 to August 22 (Leo)—Draw a pattern for your activities and stick with it for the benefits it will bring. Be most careful in hazardous tasks, handling machinery, driving large vehicles, all hard work.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—Some pointed matters, arriving at complaint conditions may take more time and patience than things so focus on them sufficiently long to get right procedure and method of management.

September 23 to October 22 (Libra)—Same obtain for you as for Libra today. Your ambition and action should be accelerated. Accomplishment is possible so don't strain nerves or health. Be useful but comfortable.

October 23 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Up to your temperament and your returns will be. Don't be lenient, take things in stride and leave up to others wishes occasionally. Gentility important to the day.

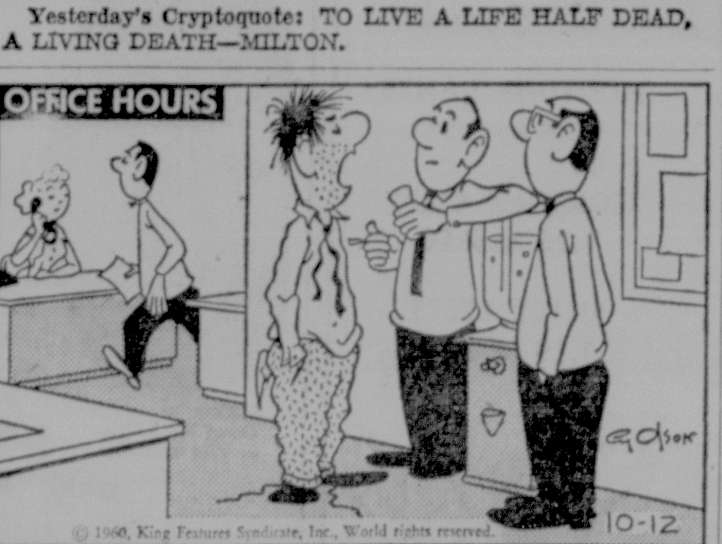

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Economy should be a paramount issue now. Don't spend needlessly, recklessly. And plan wisely future investments, buy, confer with those in the know, for advice or suggestions. Care!

December 23 to January 22 (Capricorn)—Sensible caution is advised here to avoid having to do over needless errors, unnecessary work. Personal interests can advance if handled wisely. Dealing with the "fair" sex is favored.

January 23 to February 19 (Aquarius)—Favorable day for you and your private affairs. But day on whole needs careful attention to important matters and public issues. Be mindful of your duty to your country's best interests.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces)—Not industrious but you are engaged in weighty problems, emotional projects and financial matters. Your natural talents can be developed and used to advantage where you choose.

YOU BORN TODAY: Keenly intuitive, sensitive, a real humanitarian, alive to humanity in others. You are generous, charitable. You like harmony in the home and outside interests, too. You are usually quiet and unassuming but will defend just causes and the underprivileged at all costs. You are original in ideas but can also imitate good things and use them to advantage. One of your finest characteristics is that you choose a friend for his or her finer qualities, not for his or her position or wealth. Washington Cable, 19th century. ## Casey Still Undecided

Pirates 4-1 Choice To Win Series; Friend Is Named

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer
PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bob Friend will try to give Pittsburgh its first world championship since 1925 Wednesday when he faces the New York Yankees in the sixth World Series game at Forbes Field. He probably will be opposed by Whitey Ford, the veteran left-hander who shut out the Bucs Saturday.

Aroused by the two comeback victories in New York after their two crushing defeats in the second and third games, the scrappy Pirates now are 4 to 1 favorites to win it all. They need only one more triumph in this best-of-seven baseball series.

Manager Casey Stengel would not name his starter at Tuesday's Yankee workout. He said he wouldn't decide until Wednesday between the 31-year-old Ford, a 10-0 winner Saturday, and Bob Turley, a 16-3 victor over Friend last Thursday.

Some Changes
Stengel hinted there would be some changes in his lineup, but refused to come right out and say so. It was expected that Yogi Berra would be in left field, Elston Howard catching and Clete Boyer on third base.

Although Stengel said Mickey Mantle had been told not to work out because of a strained left groin, the Mick took limited batting practice. Stengel said Mantle had aggravated the old injury be-Murtaugh's second best starter all season. He wound up with an 18-12 record. Murtaugh took him out for a pinch hitter in the fourth inning of the second game at Forbes Field, trailing 3-1 at the time. Friend had struck out six and allowed six hits. He had fanned Moose Skowron and Elston Howard twice each.

Full House
Murtaugh said everybody on the staff, except two-game winner Vern Law, would be in the bullpen.

If Ford starts, Murtaugh's catcher will be Hal Smith instead of Smokey Burgess. Otherwise it will be the same lineup, with Gino Cimoli in left field and Dick Stuart on first base.

The batting averages and slugging figures for the first five games showed some startling contrasts. The Yanks had a team average of .324 to Pittsburgh's .246; had hit eight homers to the Pirates' one; and had scored 34 runs to the National League's 17.

Yankee hitters also have 36 strikeouts to 21 for the Bucs. The only complete game of the series has been pitched by Ford.

Incidentally, the record shows Ford with a 6-4 record and 13 Series starts. He never has won a Series game away from Yankee Stadium. Whitey is 5-1 in New York and 0-3 on the road in series competition. Turley's record is 4-3 with a 3-0 mark at home and a 1-3 slate on the road.

Happy at Home
The Pirates were happy to be back in familiar surroundings although they took two out of three in Big Yankee Stadium. The vast outfield stretches of Forbes Field and the more distant fences are better suited to their style of hit-and-run play.

The weather man predicted another bright, warm day with the temperature in the 70s. Game time is 1 p.m. (EDT) with the usual network (NBC) radio and television coverage. If the Yanks tie it up, they will play the seventh game Thursday at Forbes Field.

Dyer Takes Over Lead In Offense
HOWARD Dyer, a senior from Virginia Military, has taken over first place in total offense in major college football.

Dave Hoppmann of Iowa State, who led last week in both rushing and total yardage, was injured and fell to third in rushing and ninth in total yardage.

Dyer ran and passed 32 times for 233 yards against George Washington for a four-game total of 722 yards. This four-game figure has been exceeded only once — by Notre Dame's Paul Hornung in 1956 — in the last eight years, the NCAA Service Bureau noted in releasing the statistics Tuesday.

Busy Passer
Richie Mayo, of the Air Force Academy's busy finger, hit on 25 of 53 passes for 202 yards in a losing cause against Missouri. His 54 completions in 99 attempts gave him first place in the passing department.

Bob Galters of New Mexico State romped for 161 yards against New Mexico for a leading four-game rushing total of 552 yards. Tom Lorscheid of Utah State, piled on 149 yards in his last effort for a second place total of 519.

Bob Fitzsimmons of Denver has zoomed into first place in punting with an average of 47.2 on his nine boots.

Don Baylor returned a punt 60 yards for a touchdown to put the Mounties ahead 6-0 in the first period. But Pen Argyl went ahead 7-6 in the third period when Bob Engler scored on an eight yard run. Dick Luster's conversion run put the Knights ahead.

Luster ran 67 yards for the Knights second TD and a 40-yard pass from Engler to Roger Snyder accounted for the final score.

It was the fourth win for the undefeated Knights.

Six Tie But Point Pick Wins

SIX CONTESTANTS correctly named 19 victorious teams in The Daily Record football contest for their week ending October 8. Prize winners were therefore determined by the nearest correct answers to the question of what will be the most number of points scored by one team.

Paul S. Goucher, RD 3, Stroudsburg, came within a single point of naming the highest score and won first prize. He guessed 49; the most points scored was 49.

Walter H. Davis, Mt. Pocono, came up with the answer of 47 to win second place. The others who picked 19 out of a possible 23 winners were all 3 or more points away from the magic 49.

See page 11 of today's Record for this week's contest.

Moore May Fight German

NEW YORK (AP)—A title fight between Archie Moore, the world light heavyweight champion, and Germany's Erich Schoepner may be arranged for a February date at Miami.

Andy Niederreiter, the American representative of Schoepner, said Tuesday "I am very much convinced that an honest effort now is being made by Feature Sports, Incorporated, to arrange this fight. And the fight is what we want."

Mountie IVs Lose To Knights 20-6

STROUD Union High School's junior varsity footballers dropped their first game in three outings, a 20-6 loss to Pen Argyl, Monday.

Don Baylor returned a punt 60 yards for a touchdown to put the Mounties ahead 6-0 in the first period. But Pen Argyl went ahead 7-6 in the third period when Bob Engler scored on an eight yard run. Dick Luster's conversion run put the Knights ahead.

Luster ran 67 yards for the Knights second TD and a 40-yard pass from Engler to Roger Snyder accounted for the final score.

It was the fourth win for the undefeated Knights.

Lineup Set For Classic Pin Opener

THE PROBABLE bowlers in the opening preliminary match of the "840 Classic" will be: Robert Warner, Stroudsburg RD 3, 637; Jim Harmon, senior, East Stroudsburg, 630; George Guida, Pocono Summit, 625; and Wally Straub, Stroudsburg, 619.

Any bowlers who had a score higher than these between Monday, Oct. 3 and Sunday October 9, can call Joe Whalen at WVPO, HA 1-2100 between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. to make the correction. The deadline on corrections is 5 p.m. Thursday.

These four bowlers will kick off the 1960-61 edition of the "840 Classic" on lanes 7 and 8 at Colonial, Sunday at 1 p.m.

Richardson Is Unusual Player

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bobby Richardson of the New York Yankees is a most unusual major league baseball player.

He doesn't drink. He doesn't swear. He's tiny (a bare 5-foot-9 and 170). He loves baseball, but he does not want to become a coach or manager when his playing days are over.

ESSC Girls Hand Rams Worst Loss In 13 Years

EAST Stroudsburg State College's undefeated girls' field hockey team handed West Chester a 4-1 loss Tuesday, the worst beating the Rams have taken in 13 years.

The Warriorettes, who have now won three straight under the new coach Anne Venezia, jumped into a 2-1 lead at the half and powered two more goals in the final stanza to complete the slam.

Mary Lou Seaseok got East Stroudsburg out in front with an early goal and Becky Ross added another goal in the first half.

West Chester's Barbara Goddard kept in close with an angle shot goal.

Radio Exec Gets Control Of Tigers; DeWitt May Go

By JERRY GREEN

DETROIT (AP)—John E. Fetzer, a radio executive with meager baseball background, moved to become majority stockholder of the Detroit Tigers Tuesday and said he expected to replace Bill Dewitt as president.

Fetzer, already a principal owner of the Detroit Baseball Co., announced that the club was undergoing a consolidation sale that would give him two-thirds of the outstanding stock.

A preliminary agreement had been made to buy most of the stock owned by a group headed by Brown, Fetzer said.

Dewitt, who has just finished the first year on a three-year contract as president and general manager, has been under heavy criticism by several Tiger owners.

Dewitt Blamed
They have been reported blaming Dewitt for Joe Gordon's sudden resignation as manager Oct. 5. Some owners have faulted Dewitt because the Tigers finished a disappointing sixth in the American League. They were fourth in 1959.

There has been considerable discussion by the owners on whether to buy up the remaining two years on Dewitt's contract at an outlay of $100,000. Action had been expected at an owners' meeting scheduled here Wednesday. But Fetzer said the meeting would be postponed because of the sale.

He said Dewitt's status with the up in that Army game," Engle added.

He referred to last Saturday's contest which saw Penn State storm from behind three times on touchdowns by Halfback Jim Kerr to beat the Cadets for the second straight year, 27-16. That put the Nittany Lions record at 2-1 and served notice that Syracuse might be in for a rough time this week.

Engle said his boys are looking forward to the Syracuse test but that was indeed an understatement.

Lions Waiting
Ever since that crisp autumn day last November when the Orange beat the Pennsylvanians 20-18 in a grueling contest, the Lions have been waiting for the next crack at Ben Schwartzwalder's outfit.

The big question is whether Penn State will play the way it did against Army and whether Syracuse will shake off some of the sluggish-ness that has slowed its offense in the last two games.

The Orange barely edged past winless Holy Cross last Saturday, 15-6. Their offense was stymied by fumbles all afternoon. The week before, Kansas gave the New York staters a scare before losing, 14-7.

Syracuse Fourth
The showings resulted in Syracuse being displaced by Mississippi in the top perch among the country's football eleven this week. Syracuse dropped to fourth in the weekly Associated Press ranking poll.

While Syracuse will field practically the same team that it had last year, Penn State will be without the services of Richie Lucas and Roger Kiehnman, who starred in the 20-18 contest. Lucas has graduated and Kiehnman, who ran 100 yards for a touchdown, is out for the season with a bad leg.
